

Call for presentations

The Australian Aviation Wildlife Hazard Group is set to hold its biennial forum in Adelaide, South Australia, on 14-15 September 2022. Held every two years (alternating with a workshop), the AAWHG forum is a highlight of the aviation wildlife hazard management calendar, attracting industry representatives from around the world to discuss best practice aviation wildlife hazard management and safety.

The forum attracts professionals from across the aviation industry, including airport operators and ground crew, airlines, pilots, service and equipment suppliers, wildlife specialists, trainers, ATC, accident investigators and regulators.

Submissions of abstracts are due by Monday 27 June, 2022.

Please complete the presentation proposal submission form, and return it by Monday 27 June, to the Australian Aviation Wildlife Hazard Group via email: wordflyer@outlook.com and copy in info@aawhg.org

The theme of the 2022 AAWHG forum will be 'Addressing wildlife hazard management challenges: past, present and future'. The saying, usually attributed (wrongly) to Einstein, that 'insanity is doing the same thing over and over again and expecting different results' is appropriate here. We should learn from the past and adapt accordingly, implementing innovative strategies to deal with the future. Keeping that in mind, we'd love to hear about:

- » your strategies for active or passive management
- » how organisations gather and use wildlife and wildlife strike data
- » trend identification
- » wildlife hazard management training and education
- » left-field and practical wildlife hazard management practices
- » challenging environments and innovations to manage them safely, and
- » recent research into wildlife behaviour which informs successful aviation hazard management.
